THE FACTORY LASSES

SKETCHES OF THEIR LIVES IN THE GREAT LANCSHIRE MILLS.

Provisions Made by the Oxford Factory

Owners for the Recreation of Their Employees—How the Girls Dress and Conduct Themselves.

For the recreation of their hands mills have no provision whatever—as a rule, that is. There are a few exceptions, and only a few. Unique certainly are the Oxford mills at Ashton-under-Lyne, in connection with which the late Mr.

Hugh Mason founded a little colony.

For outdoor sports there is a large play ground, with swings, etc., and a bowling green attached. When the weather is unfavorable the hands can go to the recreation rooms. On the ground floor of these is a reading room liberally supplied with newspapers and periodicals, and having a library of 700 volumes.

A coffee room leads off it, and from that again the baths are reached. Up stairs is a large lecture room fitted with desks and with a platform at the end.

Hosts of great men are on pedestals in a niche together, as is fitting, and near them are Homer, Shakespeare,

Dante and Milton. Michael Angelo

looks at Raphael, Bright and Cobden.

Newton and Watt, Franklin and Washington are there; and at intervals

there are also busts of inventors and improvers of cotton mill machinery. In connection with these rooms there is a good brass band. Sewing and other classes, too, are held, while during the winter months concerts and lectures are of frequent occurrence. Of all this it should be noted that Messrs.

Thomas Mason &amp; Son defray the expenses.

From other portions of the district we take the following. The secretary of a cotton operatives' spinners' association is stated to have said:

"Any girl who wants work can have it in the mills. That labor market is never overstocked. At the present time, particularly in the spinning department,

some firms are short-handed. Nowdays many girls in Manchester do not care to go into the mills; they would rather work in the warehouses and shops."

"There has been an improvement in the lot of the factory workers," asked the interviewer.

"Yes," replied the secretary, "in every way: wages are higher, hours shorter.

But, mind you, hands have to work harder while they are at it, because the machinery runs faster and they have to look after more of it. Why, in my young days a weaver tended only two looms, now she tends four."

Throats spinners, the writer adds, work with as little clothing as possible and generally in their bare feet, though some wear slippers. Cardroom hand-wear straight pinfones, cut away at the neck and with short sleeves. The distinctive parts of the mill girls' dress are clothes on the feet and a small shawl-

"handkerchief," they are called—on the shoulders.

Weavers, though there is nothing peculiar about their dress, can generally be distinguished from other factory girls. They have a personal trade mark —their front teeth are often bad, and besides many of them have at times a peculiar gesture. Drawing in the breath to suck wet through a shuttle causes the teeth to decay. The mannerism is similarly explained.

In a weaving shed the noise is deafening. You cannot hear your own voice.

So the weavers attract one another's attention by a shrill "Who!" and converse by means of signs and by watching the movements of the lips. They are so proficient in labianancy that they can follow a private conversation anywhere if they can see the speaker's face.

All Sorts.

A candidate is always in a ticklish position when his friends begin to scrutinize him.

The wind that at present permeates

Uncle Sam's whiskers is the blowing of the campaign orator.

Perhaps the trouble with Graham is that the only man he can vote for is not running this year.

Young men should remember there is danger and desolation at the end of efforts to rival Nancy Hanks' record.

Lunacy is said to be decreasing.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Rhode Island has developed one of the best campaign orators in the country. His name is Geo. A. Littlefield.

Mr. Littlefield was formerly superintendent of the Newport public schools, and his many friends in this city are glad to know that his worth is appreciated elsewhere as well as here.

That was an immense audience that greeted the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew Saturday evening, one of the largest ever seen within the Opera House, and as a Republican demonstration the meeting was a complete success—how great a success can be best judged by comparing the remarks heard from persons present with the comments of our neighbor, The Herald.

Two weeks from next Wednesday will occur the presidential election, and from now until that time banners and flags will float in nearly every town and hamlet in the country, and martial music will be the order of the day, or rather night. The almost startling quiet, which prevailed here up to a few days ago, has finally been broken, and the same throughout the state.

The electors hitherto of the first ward, but who, by the change of boundaries, are now made residents of the third ward, are not half as unhappy as they thought they were going to be, since they find that the polling place of their late ward has been transferred to the opposite side of the railroad track. They agree that of the two places for a ward room, Mill street is preferable to West Broadway.

Our neighbor, the News, has been libeled for $10,000 by one William R. Perry of Bristol, who thinks that would be a fair compensation for an alleged reflection upon his character in an item published some time in 1891 commenting upon a mysterious opening and closing of a so-called law office in the Southwick building. There was much unfavorable criticism about the place at the time, and this suit is the first indication we have seen that it was unjust.

Registration in the State of Montana for the coming election closed last Saturday night. The total is about 40,000, just the total of the vote cast in 1888 for Congress. The registration is light in the range counties, but full in the populous centres. The chief interest is over the capital fight. This contest is narrowed down to Helena and Anaconda. Marcus Daly is credited with the purpose of spending $500,000 to get the prize for Anaconda. The State will undoubtedly be Republican in the Presidential issue.

The signing of the contract by Postmaster-General Wamaker, under which the International Navigation Company is authorized to maintain a semi-weekly mail service between New York and Europe, in seven steamships of the first-class, all manned by American officers, all carrying the American flag, and all subject to the control of the United States Government in case of war, marks an era in our commercial history, and it should not be forgotten that the credit for the law which made this contract possible belongs to the last Republican Congress. The company awarded this contract will have built at once, in American ship yards, five of these steamships, costing in round figures $9,000,000, the greater portion of which cost will be paid to American workmen.

The Board of Aldermen will hold its final meeting as a board of canvassers this morning, after which everything will be in readiness for the municipal election which is to be held next Wednesday. All the nominations have been made and filed according to law, and every voter should look the list over carefully—taking into consideration the principles as well as persons there represented—and then be sure to mark his preference at the polls on Wednesday. Those who are satisfied with the way municipal matters have been conducted during the past year will naturally vote for the re-election of the present incumbents, but those who do not feel that the present administration is the best for the city's interests, and who, in comparing it with the less partisan administrations of the past, find it inferior, should make a point of going to the polls and giving expression to their disapproval by voting for the nominees of the Republican party.

TIVERTON.

The yearly report of the librarian of the Union Public Library at Tiverton 4 Corners is as follows. Number of volumes at the beginning of the year 820, at its close 1005. Number of volumes added during the year 98. Lost or withdrawn 13. Number of volumes circulated during the year 1313. Number of persons drawing books during the year 128, number of new patrons 10.

A Christian Endeavor Social was held at the residence of Mr. Samuel Flaherty Friday evening 17th inst. About 35 members were present and the time was pleasantly passed with music, recitations etc., refreshments being served during the evening.

The children of Districts 1, 2, 4 and 12 of this town took part in the services at Whitridge Hall, Columbus Day.

The good Templars Hall was reopened Wednesday evening for religious purposes the Rev. G. B. Cutler conducted a service to which 63 persons were present, this will be followed by other services.

Mr. C. H. White returned Thursday from his trip to New York.

Mrs. Charles H. White is on a visit to friends at Pawtucket.

Suggestive Figures.

So far as the student of history can see, the people of the Northern States of the Union are guilty of nothing which should make them of less importance as factors in controlling the affairs of the Government than are the people of the Southern States. Certainly nothing happened between 1860 and 1865 which should exalt the Southern voter above his less favored brother of the North. And yet, strange to say, he has been so exalted "by a large majority."

In view of this, the people of the North may be pardoned for giving considerable careful thought to the whole-sale disfranchising of voters in the South while that section still retains its full representation in Congress and in the Electoral College.

The Morning Advertiser has supplied a few figures which vividly illustrate the inequality which, under these disfranchisements, exists between the Northern and Southern voter. The figures are as follows:

States.	Votes Cast for Reps. 1890.	No. Reps. Next Congress.	Ratio.
Mississippi.....	62,735	7	9
Georgia.....	106,392	10	11
South Carolina.....	72,724	7	9
Louisiana.....	73,036	6	8
Alabama.....	118,171	8	11
Florida.....	225,492	11	21
.....	411,3	2	4
.....	89,472	61	69

By this table it is seen that seven Northern States, to elect forty-eight Congressmen in 1890, were obliged to cast over a million more votes than were cast in seven Southern States to elect fifty-one Congressmen. And these seven Southern States, casting but 803,072 votes, have the same power, lacking one vote, in the Electoral College that have seven Northern States, with 1,843,107 votes.

That this is a great injustice to the people of the North no fair minded person will deny. It is a wrong which should not exist and for which a remedy ought to be found.

Mr. Edward O. Thayer, a prominent manufacturer of Keen, N. H., and one of the wealthiest residents of Cheshire County, who has been a life-long Democrat, says in the Keen Sentinel:

"I shall vote the Republican ticket," because I am a protestant. I do not think that a change at this time in the direction of free trade would be advantageous.

"Business has been stimulated in the last two years and the increased activity, it seems to me, due largely to the McKinley bill. A repeal of that law would be a set-back to the business interests of the country.

"We cannot run our mills to compete with the wages of Europe. Under a free trade system, if we competed at all, we should be obliged to reduce wages to correspond with the low rates abroad.

"Like other manufacturers, I have invested considerable capital in mills right here in our own country. Skilled laboring men are employed in the mills and are located near them. Why not manufacture the goods here, then, instead of abroad?

"I am very much pleased with Mr. Harrison's administration. It is a conservative and has administered his office with a great deal of discretion. I desire to see him re-elected."

The New York Yacht Club have appointed Messrs. General T. Paine, James D. Smith, Latham A. Fish, Archibald Rogers and A. Cass Canfield a committee to arrange a race between Lord Dunsarvon's vessel and a qualified yacht club. The club also voted to reply that while the trust deed obliges the club having the custody of the cups to accept the conditions therein prescribed, this club will make no agreement that in the event of a challenge it will accept the said terms of the challenge.

Mr. Bowen R. Church, D. W. Reeves' successor to the leadership of the American Band, is, probably, the youngest bandmaster in the country. He has few equals as a cornet soloist and his superior qualifications as a director and manager will be devoted to the maintenance of the high standard of excellence already attained by this organization.

Edward W. Seymour, Judge of the Supreme Court of Connecticut, died at his home in Litchfield on Sunday of acute brain fever. He was 60 years of age and graduated from Yale with the famous class of 1853, which included among its members Hon. Wayne MacVeigh, Hon. Isaac H. Bromleigh and others of national reputation.

The Boston Granite Manufacturers and the Boston Branch of the Granite Cutters' Union have settled their differences and the men have returned to work for members of the New England Granite Manufacturers Association.

At a political meeting in St. Louis last week two persons were fatally injured and fourteen others sustained injuries, less serious by the explosion of a sky rocket during the fireworks display.

A terrific waterspout in Texas last week flooded 400,000 acres of territory to a depth of two feet and covered the track of the Texas and Mexican National Road for ten miles with a sea of water.

Lou Joe, who was found drunk in the streets of New York this week, is, according to two public records, the first Chinaman ever found in that condition in that city.

Grand Master Henry T. Easton and staff made an official visitation to Hopo Lodge, I. O. O. F., in Providence Thursday night.

The destruction of the wreck of Schooner Davis Brothers in Dutch Island harbor has been completed.

Four cases of small pox have broken out in Toronto. Two of the cases are hospital patients.

Schooner Young Brothers, of the Reynolds line this week paid her three-thousand dividend amounting to $625 on a 64th.

THE TRUTH OF IT.

Is There Any Limit to Human Endurance?

A Revelation Which Will Astonish Most People.

And Yet It Is In Reality of Every Day Occurrence.

The following communication is from one of our correspondents, Mrs. C. E. Martin, a lady well known and highly respected and who occupies a position of the highest social distinction in West Leyden, Mass. Her experience is of such a nature and its importance to many is so great and far-reaching, that we give it to our readers in her own words:

"Last summer I was all run down, had chills, no appetite, very little sleep, aches and pains, faint spells, trembling feelings and was so weak I could hardly walk around the room. I continued to run down to health and strength until I feared utter nervous prostration with its untold miseries.

"I went for my town physician and became a good many times. I soon had to give up work entirely, still his medicines did me no good. I tried to ride out one morning, but went only a few rods and had to come home. My husband then went to church, leaving me with the hired help and my children. Such a terrible day as I spent, tongue cannot describe. I could scarcely get from the couch to a chair.

"When my husband came in from church I told him I was worse and that I would die if I did not get help soon; that I would not take any more of the doctor's medicine but try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, if he thought best.

"He advised me to try it and went immediately and got a bottle, which I began to take; up to this time we knew nothing of its value except as we had seen it advertised.

MRS. CARRIE E. MARTIN.

"In the course of a few days our family physician came in and saying that he found me about the same finally told me that he had no more to ask for counsel. He informed me that I might choose any doctor I preferred to meet him in consultation.

"I said to him, 'then you consider me pretty badly off?'

"He answered, 'I certainly do and shall not prescribe for you again until some other doctor sees you, as I do not know what to give you next.'

"I then said to him, 'perhaps you will be offended, but I have not taken any of your medicine for two days, but am taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.'

"He answered, 'I am not offended; if it will help you I shall be very glad. You may continue its use a week and if no better, then we will have counsel.'

"But at the end of the week I was better. In two weeks I was a good deal better, no chills, no faint feelings, could eat and sleep quite well. In three weeks I was around and about the house. In four weeks my hired girl left me and I went to doing my housework alone, and have since continued to do so with seven to the family.

"Since that time our family physician has advised its use from time to time, saying that it would keep up my strength better. He has advised others to take it, telling them of the good it did me, and today I have reason, yes, great reason, to thank God for my recovery, and through the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I am only too glad to testify to its merits. God bless Dr. Greene and his wonderful medicine."

This remarkable remedy is purely vegetable and harmless, and can be procured at any drug store for $1.00 per bottle. Like the above able and excellent physician, all doctors of high standing recommend the sick to use it, for it cures. Doctors prescribe and recommend it because it is not a patent medicine but a physician's prescription, the discovery of the eminent specialist, Dr. Greene of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., who is so wonderfully successful in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, and who can be consulted free, personally or by letter.—Editor.

The McKinley tariff has certainly had a gratifying influence on American agriculture, says the American Cultivator. Comparing the increase of exports in 1891 with those of 1890, we find our exports of bacon, ham and lards have increased $19,000,000. We have exported $12,000,000 more of beef products. We have exported $16,000,000 more live cattle. We have exported $150,000,000 more cereals, namely: Wheat $115,000,000, Bar $28,000,000, and corn $7,000,000. We have exported $20,000,000 more cotton, $2,500,000 more seed, $1,500,000 more fruits and nuts, $2,000,000 more oil and meal. In all, we have increased the foreign sale of all agricultural products by $275,000,000.

There will be a parade of all the Republican clubs in the state at Providence on November 2.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. William McKim to Their Washington Residence—Mr. McKim's Speech at Uplift Farm—The President's Correspondence—Notes.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17, 1892.

The Democrats are at one of their old tricks. In every National campaign since the first election of Lincoln, with the single exception of Cleveland's second term, they have concerted a well planned line about the activity of federal office holders in behalf of the Republican candidates. As a matter of fact there never was a campaign in which so few federal officials took part, as in the present one, nor was there ever one in which so many of them took an active part as at last of 1888, when Mr. Cleveland was President. The President, however, has been so successful in making it plain to all his subordinates that while he did not wish any man holding a federal office to feel that he thereby sacrificed any political privilege to which he should be entitled as a private citizen, he did wish to impress upon every one of them that no public duty must be neglected in order to do political work, and that both the letter and the spirit of the civil service law must be obeyed, and that his wishes have been and are being respected in shown by the assertion of the civil service commission that there have been fewer complaints of violation or attempted violation of that law in the present campaign than in any since its adoption. So much for that Democratic lie.

If Mr. McKim's Uplift Farm speech was well received elsewhere as it was in Washington, it will certainly excite a lot of Republican enthusiasm. Short as it was it had the ring of the old Blaine bugle blast, so familiar to Republicans in every campaign for a quarter of a century past, and which may confidently be expected so long as Mr. McKim lives. James O. McKim is not a fair weather Republican; nor is he a sulker or a sore head. He is a Republican because he believes in the principles of the party and not because he or any other man holds or does not hold office.

Mr. McKim and his family will this week return to their Washington residence. In this connection it will be interesting to see what construction those Democrats who have so persistently maintained, without the slightest foundation therefor, that the President and Mr. McKim severed their personal friendship when Mr. McKim retired from the Cabinet, will put upon the message of sympathy for Mrs. Harrison's illness that Mr. McKim sent to the President. Your correspondent stated upon positive knowledge at the time Mr. McKim left the Cabinet that there had never been any personal disagreement between him and the President, and the statement is now reiterated.

The President's mail bag is unusually full these days and the subject matter of most of the communications is political. Men who know exactly what the situation is in their respective localities are in constant communication with the President and they tell him frankly what the prospects are, thus keeping, as it were, his finger upon the political pulse of the people all the time. So much of the President's time is now spent at the bedside of Mrs. Harrison, who is slowly but surely falling, that he finds the trained skill of his Private Secretary, Eljah Hall, who spent many years of his life as a managing editor, invaluable in handling and digesting this enormous political correspondence. The Republican prospect, as shown by these letters, is bright and daily becoming brighter. Republicans are fully aroused to the necessity of keeping the party which has given the country its greatest period of prosperity together, and the more so in view of which prevented earnest work in many sections early in the campaign has given place to hard and telling work, which will be kept up until the victory is won. The President's theory has been by 75 or 80 electoral votes than by 5 or 6, and this seems to be the idea upon which Republicans everywhere are now working. The Republican party always wins when thoroughly aroused, and it is now thoroughly aroused.

Unscrupulous manufacturers of medicines are offering to supply the retail druggists with article put up in RED wrapper, almost identical in general appearance, and closely simulated in every detail to Carter's Little Liver Pills.

In this way they hope to profit by the merit of Carter's Little Liver Pills, and palm off an imitation on the unsuspecting sufferer and purchaser.

It is the source of wonder to honest people that there are men ready and willing to perpetrate such frauds.
Let them beware; a day of reckoning will surely come, there are "upright judges" in the land who will punish such people.
When you go for a bottle of Carter's Little Liver Pills, ask for "CARTER'S" insist upon having "CARTER'S," and see that you get "CARTER'S."

The proprietors of Carter's Little Liver Pills have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to make their value known. True, they always win with the people, CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS have won.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE

Against Supposed Counterfeiters Captured in Boston.

A Large Variety of Paraphernalia Seized and Will Be Used as Testimony Against Daniel Kelley and Charles Byrne.

Boston, Oct. 19.—One of the best detective jobs which has been done in this city for a long time was brought to a successful termination yesterday by Sergeant Hall and Patrolman Rafferty of station 5 in the arrest of two alleged counterfeiters and the seizure of their implements. A few days ago Sergeant Hall received information which led him to believe that a counterfeiters' den was in full operation in a respectable looking house at the South End. Calling on Rafferty to his assistance, they worked day and night upon the case.

About noon yesterday Sergeant Hall was watching the house, when he saw two men leave it. One had a small iron kettle, covered with a newspaper; the other a bundle of up in an old shawl. The sergeant, being alone, dared not attempt an arrest, for fear of losing one of the men; but he followed them through several streets, and they finally

Returned to the House.

Just at this point Rafferty arrived, and the officers entered the house and arrested the men. On the way to the patrol box one of them tried to throw something away, but was prevented.

At the station they gave the names of Charles B. Byrne, 34 years old, and Daniel Kelley, 24 years old, of Boston. Five counterfeit dollars, one bearing the date of 1879 and four 1883, were found in Kelley's pocket. At the room occupied by the men the officers secured about half a dozen moulds for silver dollars bearing the dates of 1879, 1881 and 1883. They appeared to have been used considerably and all but two were broken. An iron melting pot, containing four pounds of metal, an iron ladle, with fragments of the metal clinging to it, a bottle of nitric acid and other articles were also secured. In the room was also a small cylinder stove, the base being splattered with metal, while fragments were also picked up on the carpet.

The coins were excellent imitations. They are a trifle smaller than the genuine, and weigh a weight of 23.12 grains; a genuine coin weighed at the same time, showed 410 grains.

"Got It in Change."

Kelley claimed to have received the suspicious coins found about him in the way of change for a $10 bill. Byrne refused to talk, saying the officers could not expect him to say anything.

He denied residing at the house where the implements were found, but in his pocket was a letter bearing his name and the number of the house where the arrest was made. Parties who claim to know him say he was formerly a bank cashier.

The men will go before United States Commissioner Hallett to answer to a charge of counterfeiting. The evidence against them is said to be very strong.

Held for the Grand Jury.

Boston, Oct. 20.—Charles B. Byrne and Daniel Kelley, who were arrested on a charge of having moulds for making counterfeit money in their possession, were before United States Commissioner Hallett and held in $500 cash for the United States circuit court grand jury.

TO TURN SULPHUR INTO GOLD.

Experiments of a Half-Witted Scientist Get Him Into Serious Trouble.

BARRE, Vt., Oct. 20.—William Avery was arrested at West Corinth yesterday on the charge of attempting to kill J. A. Nield last Thursday night by poisoning him with sulphur. Several witnesses testified on behalf of the state.

Avery, who is half-witted, claims that the explosion was the result of an experiment and that the pipe contained only powdered sulphur. He said he had read that sulphur, by heating, would turn to oil, then to gold. He put caps on each end of the pipe to keep the oil from running out, and had no intention of killing Nield, or any idea that sulphur would explode. He introduced books in court to substantiate his story of what he had read.

MANY BROKEN LIMBS.

Three Hundred Children Fall While Rehearsing for Columbus Day.

WEST WINSTED, Conn., Oct. 20.—Six hundred school children were seated on temporary seats fifteen feet high yesterday afternoon, rehearsing for the Columbus day celebration, when the benches collapsed and 300 children fell to the floor. Many received broken limbs, but none were killed. All the doctors in town are in attendance. There is great excitement and much indignation at the shiftless carpenters, to whose faulty work the accident is attributed.
